

EUROPEAN COURSE ON BIOTECHNOLOGY ETHICS

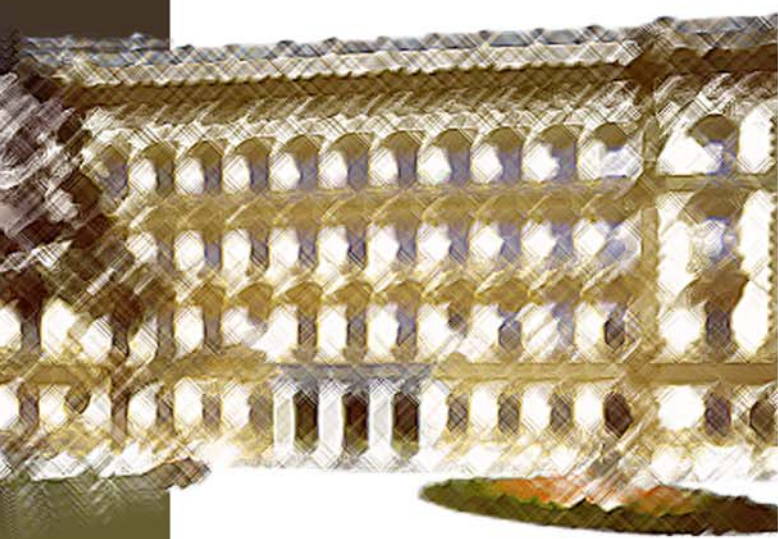

an interactive approach

www.biotethics.org

*Forum for interactive and interdisciplinary discussion
Life sciences - ethics - society*

| | |
|------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| What | European Course on Biotechnology Ethics |
| When | 29 June - 6 July, 2006 |
| Where | Brno, Czech Republic |
| Why | Fulfilling the interdisciplinary requirements for the European Doctorate in Biotechnology |
| It's for | Ph.D. students Young researchers |
| How many | Only 30 places available |
| How much | You should cover your own travel expenses (bursaries available, see the web site) |
| How Apply | online! The application form and further details can be found on www.biotethics.org; Deadline for application: 15 May 2006. Successful applicants will be notified by 25 May 2006 |

The one-week course for graduate students and young researchers aims to build a forum for interactive and interdisciplinary discussion around biotechnology. Focus remains on the communication between life sciences, ethics and society in a multidisciplinary group of students and facilitators from all over Europe.

International academic faculty from the European Biotethed consortium include:

*Mike Adcock
Wiebe Bijker
Franco Celada
Brunetto Chiarelli
Eugenijus Gefenas
Louis-Marie Houdebine
Matthias Kaiser
Josef Kure
Julian Kinderlerer
Laurens Landeweerd
Anna Olsson
Alexandre Quintanilha
Carlos Romeo-Casabona
Imre Szebik
David Townend
Lisbeth Witthoff Nielsen*

Brno, Czech Republic: Gregor Mendel's Abbey where the course will begin.

Funded by FP6 Programme

Correspondence and Enquiries to:
Professor Dr Franco Celada,
Coordinator Biotethed
Via L.B. Alberti, 4 - 16132 Genova, Italy.
tel. +39 010 353 38150/151
fax +39 010 353 38152
e-mail: celada@unige.it
Professor Josef Kure, jkure@med.muni.cz

June 29-6 July, 2006 - Masaryk University in Brno, Czech Republic